Description

This kolt has the inset enamel shields and complex multi-spoke frame. On one side of it the shield has a bird going left. On the other side a lily in a circle is framed on both sides by the image of "horns" with geometric ornament on the shield. Enamels are blue, red and white. Pearls were fixed between the rays of the frame. The tips of the rays are decorated with hemispherical caps. The shields are also framed by hemispheres imitating a large granules. The group of multi-beam kolt with insert shields is small, they were found mainly in Kyiv, Chernihiv and Knyazha Gora in the Cherkasy region.

Kolts were worn by attaching from two sides to the headdress. For this, pendants ryasna were used.
