Description

The hemispherical bowl with figured rims. Conical protrusions are symmetrically located on the rims. Two parallel moldings are single, the other two, placed on an axis perpendicular to the previous ones, are paired. Such composition may represent a certain zoomorphic creature.

From the outside, the surface is smoothed much more carefully than inside, and it is also covered with a dense engobe of light brown color. Perhaps this indicates the use of the object as the lid.
